OAKDALE, Pa. — (April 18, 2018) — TIGG is pleased to announce its recent hire of Laken Shields, who will join the sales team as Technical Sales Representative. Laken will be responsible for inside sales activities associated with TIGG products and services in municipal water, environmental remediation, and industrial processes market applications.

Laken is a recent graduate of Thiel College where she graduated with dual Bachelor of Science in Chemistry and Environmental Chemistry. In her undergraduate work, Shields studied and performed in research capacities including biodiesel, instrumental analysis, and both organic and inorganic chemistry.

“Laken brings new ideas and a fresh approach to TIGG and we are excited to have her join our team”, said Jim Kearns, Sales Account Director.
